

Plans announced for old and new arena

By Frank Ryan
The Town of Drayton Valley has revealed plans to renovate the Centennial Civic Arena and build a new rink. The contents of a month-long in-house feasibility study was presented at a meeting last week. Members of town council, the recreation board, the Community Centre Society, Kinsmen and Lions attended.

The town's proposal is two-fold.

They want to renovate the Civic Arena at a cost of $900,000 to accommodate the town offices, recreation department, library and fire hall. And, they are budgeting $1 million for a new arena in West Valley Park.

According to the feasibility study, the total cost of the arena and the multi-purpose administration building would be $1.9 million. Considering the grants available from the province, County of Parkland and the town's park reserve fund, the net monies to be contributed by the town for the projects would be $475,000.

The study also stated that town funds will be obtained through the town reserves, which will be replenished through the reduced debenture payments over the next 10 years. Therefore, no tax increases are required to help with the construction of this facility, which is in keeping with council's existing financial policies.

The $900,000 needed to renovate the Civic Arena would include $150,000 from the County of Parkland fire hall fund, $50,000 in CRC grants, the town would contribute $100,000 of their CRC funds with $325,000 coming from the sale of the library and town office and $275,000 from the town.

Financing proposed for the arena includes $300,000 in CRC funds from the County of Parkland, another $200,000 in CRC funds from the province to be finalized in June, the Community Centre Society has been asked to raise $200,000 with the town contributing $200,000 plus another $100,000 from their recreation reserve.

But, as Mayor Bob Mayhew told the meeting, there are some concerns.

The current CRC grants which pay $20 per capita may be reduced in value. An announcement to that effect is expected this month. Another obstacle the mayor mentioned, was the formation of a new M.D. and what effects that may have on funding.

The proposal for a new arena didn't include a curling rink or room for the consortium and racquetball sports which had hoped to be included.

Representatives of the curling club were told, if they had their funding in place by the time the arena construction started, that was acceptable.

Rod Bealer, representing racquetball, was told to approach the curling club about space.

And, on the subject of accommodating the consortium, the mayor suggested they make a proposal to town council.

Before any arena is built everything has to be in place for the town's multi-purpose administration facilities in the Civic Arena.

Saturday

HAPPY BIRTHDAY!

Tickets are going well for Drayton Valley's 30th birthday and reunion this Saturday at the Rec Plex.

Chamber president Marty Prentice, one of the organizers, reports that upwards of 400 tickets have already been sold. Between 500 and 600 people are expected to attend.

The evening schedule starts at 5 p.m. with a get-acquainted social. During this time an historic display will be open in the library and Amoco will show a video presentation in the theatre.

A buffet-style supper will start at 7 p.m.

Roy Anderson, a former resident who now lives in Calgary, will be the master of ceremonies. He is employed with Mobil.

Speakers will include Arnie Nielsen, chief executive officer of Mobil Canada and a geologist at the discovery well; Sherrold Moore, Amoco Canada's vice-president of production; Lorne Gordon, president of Pembina Resources; Archie Grover, deputy minister of municipal affairs and Mayor Bob Mayhew.

Shannon Bredin, a local highland dancer will perform three dances as part of an entertainment package. The DV Entertainers will also give an original presentation.

Also during the evening, the town's new 14-minute video will be shown for the first time. And a lapel pin has been specially designed for the occasion.

Pipers from the Edmonton Shriners and an RCMP color guard will lead in the head table just prior to supper.

Prentice also mentioned a number of "surprise" presentations during the evening, but he wasn't giving any clues.

Tickets are available at the town office and chamber office.

Early days in Drayton Valley

"Begged, borrowed and even stole"

"Set a goal, know what you want."
Words Adrian Meier once used when summing up a formula for success to a group of graduates from Drayton Valley and Whitecourt.

Words Meier used himself while he was mayor of Drayton Valley during the town's conception 30 years ago.

Meier was one of the first men that helped mold a growing town into a success. He served as mayor from 1958 to 1963.

Meier recalls the town was just a "sea of mud" when he first came in 1954. He also remembers the days before there was a town council, days when the local chamber of commerce was the only formal group. "There was no town council then, they looked to us for help," Meier recalled about the chamber he was president of for two years.

He also points out he was not the town's first mayor. Bob Clarkson was mayor when a town council was established in February of 1957 and Howard Pickup served as the mayor for six months after Clarkson was transferred.

"The moral is once you know what your ambition is, get busy"

While Meier was not the new town's first mayor his term as mayor brought the most changes in the early years. The long list of accomplishments include construction of a new town office, the purchase of the Lions Park area, a swimming pool was constructed, a curling rink was completed, the town's first engineer and recreation director were hired.

"It was a different breed of people," Meier says about the early years.

He recalls how they "begged, borrowed and even stole" to build the scout hall in 1954. "That was the way it was done and we got it done."

But Meier is particularly proud of the buying of the land where Lions Park now sits. For just $5,000 they acquired the 26-acre parcel and using volunteer work "levered it out." "It worked out well," he added.

Meier also points out while a lot of things were accomplished during his term, they were things that "had to happen."

Some of those things include the hosting of the Canadian amateur boxing championships in 1961 and the proclamation of the town as the "Oil Capital of the World."

Meier decided not to run for another term in 1963 because "it was time to let somebody else take over." "I felt I was getting a little bored and could not see anything else that needed to be done," he explained.

Meier also admits while on council he "did the least work, as it should be."

A young Adrian Meier during his last year as mayor of Drayton Valley.

"I thought at one time of getting back in to local politics," he added, but says he stayed out because of the "bureaucracy and rules."

Meier sees the present mayor and council as "doing a good job." He adds people should support Mayor Bob Mayhew because "he can do the job."

Meier also proved he could do the job — not only as mayor but also in his job as a life insurance salesman.

He placed third in North America in sales and won a Caribbean cruise for his efforts. "If they wanted to get rid of me they had to buy," Meier chuckled about his days as a salesman.

Now, 30 years later, Meier is still living by the words he shared with those graduating classes of 1962. He says if he could still give the same speech today without changing a word

As he said in the speech "The moral is, once you know what your ambition is, get busy."

AND TO ALL WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

Whereas it is deemed expedient for certain causes and considerations and in pursuance of the powers and privileges vested in me by the authority of the Statutes of the Dominion of Canada and the Province of Alberta, through the town and village act, I, Adrian Meier, Mayor of this town of Drayton Valley do hereby with the advice and consent of the Council of Drayton Valley proclaim that the Town of Drayton Valley be and is to be from now on and thereafter known as

THE OIL CAPITAL OF THE WORLD

The proclamation in 1963 naming the town "The Oil Capital of the World."

MacLellan upset with plans

Joe MacLellan was disappointed.

MacLellan, executive-director of the Pembina Educational Consortium learned last Tuesday the town's feasibility study on a new arena didn't include any space for his needs.

"I thought they were looking at an overall facility.

Third year

No increase in taxes

For the third straight year Drayton Valley tax payers won't see any increase on their annual tax notice.

Mayor Bob Mayhew announced last Thursday, following first reading of the mill rate, a zero per cent increase.

More than just a rink," MacLellan stated.

When the question of accommodating the consortium was asked at the feasibility meeting the night before, the mayor suggested the consortium make a proposal to town council.

"I hope to make some arrangements to be a partner. There's a lot of benefits for the community," MacLellan added. MacLellan said he would look at the mayor's offer.

While the consortium has been looking for space (they need about 5,000 square feet) in town for the past two years, MacLellan said they could expand at their present location. However, they would still be faced with a serious parking problem.

The mayor also announced plans last week to renovate the Centennial Civic Arena at a cost of $900,000 and build a new arena for $1 million at West Valley Park, without raising taxes.

Mild weather to continue

Expect the clouds to clear off today (Tuesday) and highs near -1 C according to the forecast from the Edmonton weather office for the Drayton Valley area.

On Wednesday highs near -3 C are expected with lows at -15 C. The mild weather will continue for Thursday and Friday with similar temperatures and no snow. There is only a 10 per cent chance of snow all four days. Mild conditions should continue into the weekend.

Opinions

Mental health officer

Push is needed to fill vacant position

Professional services are important in any community.

From the family doctor to the social worker.

For the past five months, Drayton Valley has been without a mental health officer. It's a situation that has most schools and groups such as AADAC and the health unit up in arms.

The position, we're told, is a victim of the provincial government's hiring freeze.

Drayton Valley MLA Shirley Cripps is aware of the situation. "It's a concern," she told a recent information meeting in town.

Cripps says she has been told the position hasn't been filled because no one will come to Drayton Valley.

The MLA doesn't believe that. Neither do we.

Just how hard has the province tried to fill the vacancy, well before the hiring freeze surfaced?

If the government wants proof that people are willing to come here, they don't have to look any further than the Drayton Valley Developmentally Handicap Association. Their advertising campaign for a new executive director attracted 39 applications, including two from doctors.

Instead of blaming the vacancy on budget cuts it's obvious the government, namely the Community and Occupational Health minister, should try advertising the position.

Just to say that people don't want to come here, is a poor excuse.

Town council and the chamber of commerce could do their part by firing off a memo to Jim Dinning, the minister responsible.

If we let this slide, our next problem could be a shortage of doctors.

It wasn't too many years ago that the Breton hospital experienced a shortage of doctors. That could quite easily happen here, especially in view of the doctors being asked to take a 10 per cent cut.

If Drayton Valley is to continue as the 'hub' of services for local and area residents, then we need to fight for things like a mental health officer.

Proposed arena doesn't meet community needs

The town's proposed arena didn't meet our expectations.

It's simply a bare bones arena. Nothing else.

We were hoping, like many others, the town would consider a community centre, to help with the overcrowding problems that so many of our groups are faced with. But there's nothing in the original plan.

The proposal leaves the consortium, curlers, and racquetball sports out in the cold.

The arena proposal, in its original form, calls for 250 seats, four dressing rooms for the indoor ice surface and two for the outdoor ice.

If options such as meeting rooms, additional seats, plexi-glass for the end boards, team equipment storage, trophy cabinets, glass viewing area from foyer/concession area, 80-ton plant for summer use, security system, etc. are to be added, a lot more money will be needed.

The final decision on what goes into the arena, will be made by town council.

The Community Centre Society, who are incorrectly referred to in the town's feasibility study as a complex society are being asked to raise $200,000 toward the indoor arena, which will be built first. The outdoor ice is next. This group has always pushed the idea of a community centre. Now they have to decide if an arena is best.

While the curlers are not part of the town's plan, they are invited to build a new facility at West Valley Park, when they get their funding in place. The racquetball people were told to approach the curling club about space.

While all these plans are fine and dandy, if you're an arena ice user there's still a lot of IFs.

The arena will only go ahead IF the CRC money comes through, IF the new MD doesn't affect funding, and IF the town can sell the library and existing town office buildings.

Next week, our comments on the town's $900,000 proposal to renovate the existing arena which will include the fire hall, library, town office, recreation department, council chambers and a mayor's suite.

Principal is proud of his school

Dear Editor,

I was pleased to see that you covered some of the points of my report to the County of Parkland School Board, Western Review, Jan. 18.

You missed some points that I thought were important so I would like to reiterate them for you in this letter.

I mentioned the fact that junior high was a difficult area in education because of the "adolescent spurt" that students go through. This is the age of challenge, at home, at school and of society as a whole. So we have to be more sensitive towards students at this time in their life. We need special teachers at this age group and we are fortunate to have such teachers at H.W. Pickup junior high.

We have some very positive points at our school which help students overcome this difficult time. We integrate Grade 7, 8 and 9 students into homerooms so they feel less intimidated and get to know each other better. Grade barriers are broken down because of this integration. Homeroom teachers stay with the same student for three years as they act as a guidance person and confidante as they progress through junior high and the adolescent years. In-tramurals are done on a homeroom basis to help students feel more welcomed into the culture of the school.

Our Grade 9s, that have repeated, have a chance of being specially placed into the high school at second semester if they show effort and attitude improvements. This is quite unique as most schools make them repeat the full year.

Our students are second to none in the province, if not Canada. They participate in donations to a foster child, charities: food banks, telethons, and in bringing cultural activities to the school such as the Light Opera Theatre and Foothills Brass.

They also participated in Oliver, the local live drama production done by DV Players. Our students have done well in academics and sports. They have achieved provincial medals in various activities.

We are very proud of our students at H.W. Pickup junior high in their achievements and their efforts. We the staff are extremely interested in their future achievements as well.

The staff of H.W. Pickup, I also mentioned at the board meeting, are a caring, happy and professional group. We are proud of our students and our school.

Yours for better communications,

C. Cavanagh
Principal

Please attend meeting

Dear Editor,

I would like to strongly encourage the general membership of the Minor Hockey Association to attend the general meeting Wednesday, Feb. 4.

Our association has reached a point where we must clarify what our priorities are, and in what direction we should be moving in order to make our program the best possible for our children.

It appears at times that the action in the stands rivals that on the ice, but the problems we have encountered this year are not new. The only way to solve these problems is to face the issues behind them, and attempt to implement positive steps in our program that will make things run more smoothly.

The hockey board members that will be elected at this meeting will need a lot of input in order to progress when they take over in April. This season's board has taken the first step by re-working the constitution, the next step is to determine how the ice time should be used, so that we do not continue with a coaching "free-for-all", but set up some sort of standard and order on the ice.

It is especially important for members with young children to attend this meeting; if you wait until your child is older, it will be too late to change things. Anybody who has ever been in the stands and said to a fellow hockey parent "They ought to....", must attend this meeting.

Sincerely,
Marti McKinley

Teacher salaries

Principal is unhappy

Dear Editor,

I was rather disappointed by reading a letter in a recent issue of The Western Review on the topic of teacher service and salary.

It appears to be one of those periodic times for teacher bashing. It is unfortunate that when faced with real and serious problems nothing more original can be brought up than an attack on another group.

The same mentality leads to attacks on those receiving social assistance rather than on the economic conditions forcing many to exist on those allowances.

I fail to see how reducing the level of education to our children and hospital and police services to all is going to assist in overcoming an economic recession.

I was taught in economics classes that in modern societies governments tried to combat recessions, not aggravate them. I fail to see how problems of unemployment will be solved by laying off people and thereby increasing the number of people unemployed.

I fail to see how the public good is served by putting a freeze on construction of such projects as schools when the construction industry is under-utilized and therefore, costs are down so that these same projects can be built later in an economic upturn when prices are again high. Common sense says to all except the government that the time to build is during a recession.

We need a sense of priority in government expenditures not mindless cuts. Which should be number one — education of our youth or education of Dr. Reid's labor law committee? Yes, education costs money but it is our investment in the future. A province not willing to make that investment will darken the future.

I am also moved to comment on the statement contained in the letter stating to the effect that teachers are willing to strike at the drop of a hat. This of course shows a total ignorance of the long and painful bargaining process which preceded the recent stoppages in nearby areas.

I won't comment further except to say the situation is hardly helped by criticism without knowledge.

Yours truly,

Five area schools get use of 66-passenger bus

Local students may be making more field trips in the future because of a bus now being based in Drayton Valley.

The 66-passenger bus is being lent to five area schools until the end of June.

Theoretically, it means more trips," explained Elementary B principal Elson Keown.

Keown says with the bus the trips will be cheaper because they aren't paying county drivers and bus rates. He added if their budgets stay the same the number of trips may "almost double" for the school.

Keown also pointed out a second big benefit of the bus will be access to longer trips.

In the past, using contract drivers from the county, trips could not go past 3:30 p.m. because of the drivers' commitments to taking kids home.

Frank Maddock, high school principal Al Day, who was also instrumental in the bus being based here, said a "problem they always faced was getting a bus."

Day said the high school along with Elementary B, Eldorado, H.W. Pickup and Tomahawk schools will have access to the bus.

"We'll store it in the auto compound here (at the high school)," Day added, saying the auto shop will do the routine maintenance on the bus. "It's also good for the kids (in the auto shop)," Day explained, adding they will get experience working on the bus.

Last year the high school alone travelled over 13,000 kilometres by bus to extra-curricular activities and field trips.

In addition to reducing costs by using the new bus instead of a contract bus, Day said costs may be further reduced if they get volunteer drivers.

He explained teachers, especially coaches, are going to be encouraged to obtain their proper class of license to drive the bus. Day said parents may also be available to drive the bus.

Keown said at Elementary B they already have three qualified drivers and as many as 10 more are interested.

Top two teams meet in girls' final game

By Frank Ryan

It was a classic match-up. Two of the best girls' high school basketball teams in this part of the province met in the final of the FMHS tournament last Saturday.

When the final buzzer sounded, the Spruce Grove Panthers owned a 54-40 win over the Hinton Rockies.

Shawna Blacklock and teammate Chantelle Clements also won all-star team berths for the Panthers. Brenda Arsenaault got the nod for Hinton while Margaret Lopetinski of Barrhead and Audra Meikle of the FMHS Amazons were also named to the all-star squad.

Lynette Tsai's host Amazons finished with a 1-2 win/loss record in the two-day affair.

Kris Massiewz scored 12 points and Kelly Hess added 10 as the Grove downed Evansburg 60-30 in their opening game. Clements led the way in their 49-39 win over Barrhead with a 14-point performance. And in the final, Massiewz hooped 14 points and Clements added 12.

Hinton advanced to the final with a lopsided 66-18 win over Niton as Cheryl Gow scored 24 points and Arsenaault had 14. It was all Arsenaault in their 67-36 win over Drayton Valley, as she hit for 34 points and added 19 more in the final.

The Amazons opened with a 41-33 squeaker over Niton as Donna Brooks finished with 10 points. But they lost to Hinton despite a 19-point effort from Meikle and ended the tourney with a 52-22 loss to Barrhead. Meikle had 10 more points for the Amazons.

Lopetinski was the top scorer for Barrhead in two of their three games as she had 14 points in the loss to Spruce Grove and 10 in the win over Drayton Valley. Kim Robinson with 16 was their top point-getter in the win over Evansburg.

After two losses Evansburg finished with a 59-19 win over Niton. Joan Riehl had 20 points for the winners with Jodi Pozdzik adding 16. Nikki Vangeois had a 12-point game in their loss to Barrhead.

While they failed to win a game, the Niton squad had some fine individual efforts. Dawn Weld hit for 16 points in the 41-33 loss to Drayton Valley. Jackie Weld had 12 points in the loss to Hinton and Dawn Weld came back with 11 more points against Evansburg.

Devils clip Elks

The Drayton Valley Devils had to reach into their 'bag of tricks' to preserve their 23rd win of the season last Friday night.

Leading 7-6, two players in the penalty box and 1:33 left on the clock, the home town Devils asked the referee to check the Barrhead Elks' game sheet. They insisted the Elks had an unlisted person in their players' box.

A check of the game sheet proved the Devils right. The unidentified player was ejected from the bench and the Elks were assessed a bench minor.

Now only one player short, the Devils were able to hang on for a 7-6 win before their biggest crowd of the season.

The Elks will be looking for revenge tomorrow (Wednesday) night when they return to the Centennial Civic Arena for an 8 p.m. make-up game.

Defenceman Sheldon Dunham scored two goals and Trent Durrin Fedorus added another as the Devils jumped into an early 3-0 lead by the 13-minute mark of the opening period. But before the period ended Greg Schmidt and Al Oswald replied for the Elks.

Chad Allen, Everett Ness, Darrin Fedorus and Pankiewicz with his second of the night gave the Devils a 7-5 lead after 40 minutes. Tony Nahamko, Marv Blanden and Brian Kobershtein answered for the Elks.

Ron Kadylo scored the only goal of the third, drawing the Elks to within one at the 17:12 mark.

Forty-seven penalties were called in the three-hour game with 28 of those going to the Devils.

Powerplays accounted for 10 of the 13 goals with each team connecting five times. The Devils also added a shorthanded tally.

On Sunday, the Devils continued their domination over the Spruce Grove Broncos with an 8-3 win. It was their 24th win in 25 starts.

Blair Shimbashi and Trent Pankiewicz led the assault with two goals each. Kevin Hutchinson, Mike Flodel, Sheldon Dunham and Brad Pankiewicz had singletons.

The teams were tied 1-1 after the first with the Devils taking a 6-3 lead after 40 minutes.

Only 33 penalties were called.

Ice Chips - The last six minutes of the first period was added onto the second when the downed one of the players' benches came off. Denis Potvin, the former U of A goaltender directed traffic on the Elks bench. Hobbesha was in town at 8:30 p.m. game this Friday.

Rockets soar in local tournament

By Frank Ryan

The Hinton Rockets lived up to their pre-tournament press clippings and won the FMHS boys' basketball title last Saturday night.

The highly touted Rockets downed Barrhead 73-54 in the final.

And two of their players, Cam Sandboe and Wayne Edwards were named to the all-star squad.

The host FMHS Warriors finished the two-day tourney with a 2-1 win/loss record.

Sandboe hit for 26 points and Edwards added 25 as Hinton whipped Evansburg 86-61 in their opening game Friday night. Lee Wolf led Evansburg with 20 points followed by Ernie Russell with 18.

The Warriors were the Rockets' next victims as the local side dropped a 78-53 decision. Edwards led the way with 26 points while Sandboe added 20 and Kevin Wallace had 12. Len Hallgren was the top sniper for the Warriors as he hit for 12 points. Ron Rhine had 11 and both Brent Pasula and David Anderson had 10 each.

In the final, it was Sandboe with 17 and Edwards chipped in 15 as Hinton went up 39-24 at the half. Doug Robinson led Barrhead with a 16-point performance.

Sheldon Mielke of Barrhead, Rob Tenhove of Red Deer and the Warriors' Pasula were also named to the boys' tournament all-star team.

The Warriors opened the tourney on a winning note as they downed Evansburg 82-40. Anderson led the way with 17 points followed by Pasula with 16 and Rhine with 11. In their loss to Hinton, the Warriors also lost Anderson early in the second half, when he took sick and was taken to the hospital. But the team rebounded in their final game, edging a five-man Red Deer squad 59-57. Hallgren had 14 points with Steve Thompson and Anderson adding 12 each and Pasula had 10. Ron Anderson was a one-man show for the short-staffed Red Deer squad with 25 points.

Barrhead also finished the tournament with a 2-1 win/loss record. They advanced to the final with a 76-69 win over Red Deer and edged Niton 64-55. Denis Bourget was their top scorer in both games, hitting a tournament high 29 points against Niton and had 23 in the win over Red Deer.

Bob Thompson's Niton boys had a win in three games. They dropped a 63-57 decision to Red Deer and 64-55 to Barrhead before edging Evansburg 61-55. Corey Hensault had 16 points in the loss to Red Deer with both Curtis Sexsmith and John Langand scoring 10 each in the loss to Barrhead. Langand came back with a 26-point effort in the win over Evansburg.

Disabled skiing clinics offered

By Jennifer Mulholland
Skiing is the outdoor sport thousands of Albertans turn to in the winter months and, thanks to the Alberta Association for Disabled Skiers (AADS), both alpine and cross-country are also accessible to those with a variety of handicaps.

Affiliated with the Canadian Association for Disabled Skiing in 1976, the Alberta association offers alpine and cross-country clinics wherever demand exists.

This year, the association is actively working to increase public awareness of AADS programs in rural communities, and is looking to increase its present membership of some 400 members.

Learn-to-ski classes, in both alpine and cross-country are held throughout the winter season in major cities in the province, however as these are not always accessible to everyone, particularly rural residents, AADS will travel, on request to rural communities to put on learn-to-ski clinics.

The association is provided with funding to finance such clinics, by the Alberta Sport Council, a minimum of 10 participants is required for a clinic to be held. These may be a combination of disabled people and non-disabled volunteers.

Depending on the disability involved, each student may have up to three instructors. All of the association's instructors are volunteers who have completed instructor training clinics each year. AADS also holds weekly leadership development courses, which instructors take to improve their teaching skills.

The association which has already achieved great success in teaching amputees, the blind and hearing impaired as well as students with polo, hip and spinal injuries, deformities and mental handicaps, continues to research and review new methods to enable the disabled to ski.

According to George Sawender, chairman of the programs committee with AADS, becoming a member of the association means much more than learning how to ski. Handicapped students as well as volunteers make new friends and the opportunity exists for disabled skiers to become involved in skiing on a more competitive level in provincial, national and international races.

"There is something for everybody who is interested in skiing," says Sawender.

To wind up the season, disabled skiers are invited to attend and participate in the Canadian Disabled Ski Festival and Macdonald Disabled Skiing Championships, which is attended by disabled skiers from all over the world.

With the help of AADS disabled youngsters and adults may become involved in a sport which many of them had no doubt, thought was beyond their capabilities. Skiing is for everyone with the Alberta Association for Disabled Skiers.

For more information on ski programs and clinics available through AADS, or if interested in becoming a volunteer with the association, call the AADS office in Calgary at 228-0236.

No need to be an athlete to enjoy natural track luge

By Alan Hobson
In a plume of flying snow and chattering runners, he is by you before you even get a chance to see his face.

Tearing into the next turn in a hell-for-leather style reminiscent of the Crazy Canucks, it occurs to you that you may just be watching the beginnings of one of Canada's newest and potentially most popular winter sports.

This is not alpine skiing. It is natural track luge, a curious type of tobogganing in which participants dart down a hill on small sleds at any speed they choose. Unlike its Olympic counterpart, artificial track luge, it doesn't require a multi-million dollar track, or huge banked curves, or kilometres of refrigerated piping to keep ice on the labyrinth. And it can be done just for fun.

Minor hockey

RCMP to step up security

You can expect to see more of the RCMP at junior hockey games.

Councillor Alex Salfi in formed town council last Thursday that he had received several complaints about rowdy fans at the game.

Recreation director Calvin Bennfield said most of the problems occur when Natural track lugers need only a gentle hill or abandoned mountain road for a track, a special sled and desire. It is a sport suitable for any age and you don't need to be an athlete to try it.

"At the top of a run, you sit up there and you know you'll have one minute of intense excitement," says Richard Way, 29, of Calgary, a two-year member of Canada's national natural track luge team. "It's like tobogganing, but in tobogganing the hill sends you where it wants to send you. When you drive one of these sleds, you go where you want to go."

The cost of natural track luge equipment is less than downhill skiing. A sled and helmet can cost under $300 and there are no lift tickets to pay for or lineups to stand in

Perhaps because of the impetus of the Olympics, Alberta is leading the way nationally in the development of natural track luge. There are already 22 clubs across the province, more than a dozen tracks and more than 4,000 Albertans have tried the sport. Natural track luge is hugely popular in Europe but was only introduced to Canada at the 1984 Alberta Winter Games in the Crownstee Pass.

The Alberta Amateur Luge Association in Calgary, in co-operation with the Alberta Sport Council, offers introductory clinics in natural track luge across the province.

The sport will also be featured at the Alberta Winter Sport Championships

Feb. 27-March 1 in Edmonton. Thanks to support by Alberta Energy Company Ltd., the championship and qualifying competitions in 28 communities winter sport festivals are now being held across the province. The Zone 5 playoff was held Sunday, Feb. 1 in Hinton.

For more information on how you can get involved, contact Charlene Seeman, Zone 5 coordinator, Alberta Sport Council, Stony Plain, 965-0155.

the arena staff are busy on the ice.

Mayor Bob Mayhew said he would contact the RCMP in regards to their presence at the local games.

Bennfield indicated the lack of security was the main problem. He hopes to meet with the Drayton Valley Devils to discuss the problem.

"The user should be in charge of security I see this as a serious problem," Salfi stated.

Councillor Dave Lundberg suggested the town should look at cancelling the juniors' arena bookings if the problems continued.

Thorsen close to perfect game

Big scores have been a way of life at the Twilite Bowling alley lately.

Faye Jacobsen bowling in the Bowler of the Month tournament turned in an impressive 911 triple.

Then it was Loretta Thorsen's turn. Thorsen (formerly Fowler) rolled a spare on her first turn and then hit 11 straight strikes for a 435 score. It would have been a perfect game if the first shot had been a strike.

For her efforts she received $140 in gift certificates, $100 cash, six records, a wheel alignment, a free car wash, $15 worth of gas, a custom car clean, a $5 roast, five Zodiac tickets, a movie

Rick Fallis and Tom Woodward.

Fallis is transferred

There will be a new face behind the manager's desk at the Drayton Valley Bay store. Tom Woodward has officially taken over the post from the departing Rick Fallis.

Fallis has been transferred to Thompson, Manitoba and will become the store manager of a larger outlet.

"I won't let him sit in my chair until I'm gone," Fallis joked last week as he was finishing up his duties.

Woodward was transferred here from Dryden, Ontario and has been with The Bay chain for about six and a half years. "I'm looking forward to it," says Woodward. Before Dryden he was posted in Thompson, Manitoba, ed.

Yorkton and Fort McMurray.

The move to Drayton Valley is a step up for Woodward who was department manager in the Dryden store.

For Fallis, who has been with the chain for almost 17 years, the move ends his four years in Drayton Valley. "I've really enjoyed it," he adds.

Fallis' children will be staying here until the school term finishes.

The store in Drayton Valley will not be changed other than the new face behind the manager's desk, the new man says. "We'll keep the high standards that have already been set," Woodward explains.

A decision was made, on the advice of the disaster services committee, to purchase an auxiliary power plant for emergency purposes at a cost of $38,364.

The Notebook

By
Const. Brian Herrick

When your motor vehicle is moving forward, and an accident occurs, all surrounding circumstances are considered prior to finding fault with a particular motorist.

However, when you are backing up, ensure that you can do so in complete safety to other persons, vehicles and property. Section 94 of the Highway Traffic Act states that:

94(1) No person shall back up a motor vehicle unless the movement can be made

- (a) in safety, and
- (b) without interfering with other traffic on the highway.

(2) In an urban area no person shall back a vehicle into an intersection or crosswalk.

Section 94(2) would apply to those who are within the limits of a corporate community (i.e. Drayton Valley).

1987 MUNICIPAL SERVICES BUDGET MESSAGE FROM TOWN COUNCIL

The Town of Drayton Valley Council would like to take this opportunity to give each of our citizens some insight into the 1987 Budget.

As a responsible Municipal Government, your Town Council has spent time and effort going over every detail of the 1987 budget and has considered future needs of the Community.

The Town Council has developed financial guidelines and policies as follows:

* To hold the property taxes and maintain the existing service levels.

* To reduce the Town's total debt by not borrowing for capital projects, but rather generating reserves to finance capital projects under the long range financial planning.

* To set priorities for the five year capital projects and evaluate financing without increasing the Town's debt load and try to hold increases in property taxes to a minimum.

Following these financial policies and realizing the present economy with the Provincial cut - backs in grants by $80,000 and Council's commitment to build a new arena and multi - purpose building at a net cost of $575,000 to the Town, the Council has proposed to run a tight ship in 1987.

The results would be as follows:

1. There will be no increase in the personnel costs. Wages of all employees will stay at the 1986 level.
2. There will be no increase in property taxes in 1987.
3. Special projects which can delayed will be put on hold.
4. Reserves will be generated, where feasible, to finance the new arena and multi - purpose building, without borrowing.
5. Different alternatives will be explored to reduce expenditures and increase revenues without affecting service levels.

The long range plan of this Council is to be self sufficient financially and supply community needs with improved service levels.

The Council will need your understanding and help to achieve these financial goals, for the betterment of this Community.

FOR ANY FURTHER INFORMATION PLEASE DO NOT HESITATE TO CONTACT THE TOWN OFFICE OR THE COUNCIL MEMBERS.

YOUR COUNCIL: Mayor Mayhew, Councillor Miner, Councillor Olsen, Councillor McGee, Councillor Salfi, Councillor Saunders, Councillor Lundberg

Council notes

Town council met behind closed doors last Wednesday night with MLA Shirley Cripps.

Councillor Dave Lundberg mentioned that problems at Sturdi Wood were discussed and Mayor Bob Mayhew added they talked about items of mutual concern.

The town's video presentation will be shown for the first time during Saturday's 30th birthday celebrations.

Council have written off $332 in non-collectible water and sewer accounts.

A development permit application for an indoor amusement next door to Maggies Restaurant on 50th Avenue has been turned down by the municipal planning commission.

Consultants will be hired at a cost of $3,000 to $4,000 to review and evaluate the town's computer needs. They will also assist in negotiating a contract and will confirm details such as software, hardware, maintenance, delivery, installation and training.

No complaints

Drayton Valley airport manager Ron Wade doesn't have any problem with the helicopter landing pad behind the Westwind Motor Inn or the new pad that will be included in the fish and wildlife proposal on the Poplar Ridge Road. Wade says he's never had any complaints about the "choppers" landing in town.

Town could benefit from new Genesee power plant

The new Genesee power plant could have some positive effects on Drayton Valley.

Genesee plant manager Ken Warren told town council last Thursday that five per cent of the permanent work force may live in Drayton Valley. The plant is about 70 km or a 45 minute drive from town.

About 110 permanent jobs will be offered at the plant including 80 in '89 and another 30 two years later.

Warren told council that some employees would undoubtedly be looking at Warburg area and that Drayton Valley will be considered.

In an effort to attract some of the work force at the plant, the town has forwarded some information to Warren that will be helpful in their employees.

There's also a chance that local people will get a job at the plant. Site work at the plant is being done by contractors, and all the hiring for that is coming out of the union office in Edmonton. When other jobs become available, they will be advertised in The Western Review.

Leduc

Depending on generosity

Wheelchair athlete Rick Hansen will be presented with a single cheque in February when his Man in Motion World Tour visits Leduc. The dollar figure on that cheque depends on the generosity of Leduc and area residents.

Although fund-raising organizers are putting no ceiling on the amount of money to be collected, so far only $275 has been deposited in a trust account through the Leduc and District Chamber of Commerce.

"Who knows, maybe we can collect $25,000, we haven't set a goal," an optimistic Ardis Dahl, Leduc Man in Motion committee co-ordinator said, a few days after 1,000 letters were sent to businesses, clubs, societies, service groups and churches in the area asking for funds or fund-raising ideas. Two fund-raising bingos were held Jan. 20 and Jan. 30.

Hansen will be travelling Highway 2A to Edmonton some time in February. It's anticipated he will be in Leduc Wednesday, Feb. 25. The day of his brief visit will be declared Rick Hansen Day in Leduc, city council announced.

A goal of $10 million has been set for the world wide tour and it's estimated that $3 million will be raised in Alberta alone.

Couple had "plenty to eat and no utility bills"

By Donna Haskedal
Roy and Ella Prentice celebrated 50 years of marriage Nov. 17, 1986.

They lived on a farm west of Bluffton for four years, milking cows and selling cream at $2.50 for a five-gallon pail. Roy did some trapping. "We had plenty to eat and no utility bills to pay," said Ella.

In February 1940 Roy, Ella and daughter Lois moved to Buck Creek to land leased out by the government.

They loaded their belongings onto two horse-drawn sleighs and after a cold trip across Buck Lake they set up camp. "It was cold and very bleak," recalls Ella.

Following supper cooked over an open fire, Roy heated a large rock which he placed behind his wife's back to keep her warm through the night. However, when Ella awoke the next morning there was a big hole burned in her coat. After that Ella and Lois slept in the sleigh.

When they reached their homestead they pitched their tent and set up the camp stove.

They went by train from Breton to Bluffton to pick up their truck, but were only able to drive the truck to six miles west of Breton, the end of the road. Leaving it there, they walked to Buck Creek.

Roy and Ella Prentice

When Lois couldn't walk anymore they made a stretcher from small poplar trees and Roy's coat and carried her the rest of the way.

By the end of March they moved into their cabin. Melted snow was the only water to begin with, and clothes were washed on a scrub board. They used four sled dogs for winter travelling. Roy went to Buck Lake before spring breakup for a year's supply of groceries — costing $100.

Ella made her own yeast and they had a cow, chickens, wild meat and berries. The 100-pound flour bags provided much-needed material for the homesteaders' wives.

From one acre of land, cleared with an ax, they had enough firewood for two years.

They raised lots of vegetables, setting some to logging camps. They dug a well by hand, cut fence posts, and fenced the one-quarter section with three strands of wire.

Daughter Joyce was born in 1940.

Because of heavy rains over the next four years, the couple were unable to keep up with clearing and breaking the quota of land required by the government. The government wanted the Prentices to rent it from them, but they decided to sell what they could and leave.

The cedar shingles cost more than the $50 they received for their cabin. They rolled up the wire and took it with them, moving into some vacant buildings northwest of Breton until buying another quarter of land with a cabin on it.

It started to rain and kept it up steady for three weeks. Bridges in the creek washed out and the water came up extremely high. But here they had 20 acres of land "level as a table top," according to Ella.

That first summer they hand-cut and sawed firewood which they hauled to Breton. A double wagon box pulled by horses sold for $3 a load.

The local Moose Hill school had been closed for lack of funds. When their daughters were ready to attend, Roy and Ella applied for correspondence. Ella was asked to send her diplomas to the school board. They then asked her to re-open the school and teach the other 11 students. She did this for eight months until a post-war teacher came. However, the new teacher would not continue the correspondence lessons so none of the students passed.

There continued to be problems with teachers, so tenders were put out for a four-wheel drive vehicle. Roy was accepted and became Breton's first school bus driver. By this time sons Roy and Gordon had arrived. As years went by more and more students enrolled, and bigger buses had to be purchased.

When Roy retired from driving the Prentices farmed and started raising Hereford cattle. They bought more land on which they now live, enjoying retirement and the peace and quiet of the farm.

Ella feels hardships are needed in order to appreciate the good times.

Safety is his business

Safety skills is something Ken Shewchenko has worked with extensively — now he is teaching it.

Shewchenko has started Wenko Enterprises Ltd. and is supplying safety-related courses to local groups and companies.

He says his goal with the variety of courses is not only teaching but to "entertain and have a good time."

Courses he is teaching include St. John's first aid, a sour gas course, defensive driving, professional driving improvement and BOP course (blowout prevention course).

"I'm enjoying it," he adds. So far Shewchenko has been conducting safety seminars for local oil companies along with some "general public" courses.

He is hoping to sign up the general public for many of the courses, specifically the housewives. He says often their husbands in the oilpatch have safety courses but they're at home with the kids.

In addition Shewchenko says he plans to add a "personal touch" to the courses. "They are not dull and drawn out," he explains.

Some of the things he uses to make the courses more interesting and memorable include fake patches of blood and magazines for splints.

"I'm teaching practical first aid," he adds. Everything from coat hangers to sheets might appear.

The defensive driving course he offers is aimed at helping older drivers.

"I'm there to sharpen up bad habits we older drivers pick up," he says.

Shewchenko, who has taken several instructor courses on the subjects in Edmonton, spent several years working in the oilpatch before going into selling safety.

Breton newspaper an educational tool

It's working. Under the banner Breton Booster, the community of Breton is publishing its very own newspaper.

The weekly Booster covers everything from community and school news to RCMP Crime Stoppers.

The entire project is coordinated at the school. Each week teacher Alex Waldron spends hours behind the computer composing, typing and setting the paper. "The whole thing is handled here," Waldron explains. A parent volunteer comes in each week and types the copy into the computer while Waldron is working magic with the keys making ads. The paper is using the "Page-maker" system and laser writer on the Mac Plus Apple computer.

"It's been very, very successful."

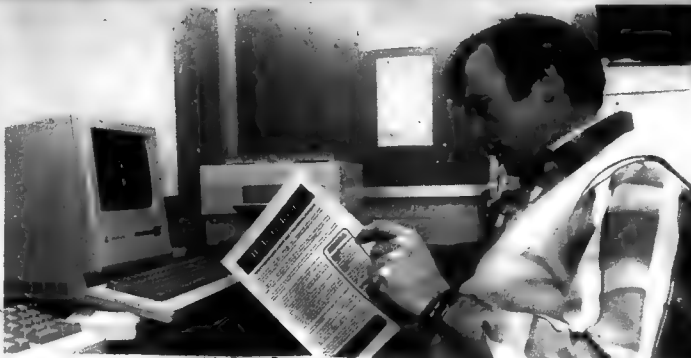

"One of our difficulties is not enough news and too much advertising," Waldron explains. The paper itself is distributed to more than 400 families in the Breton, Lindale and Carnwood areas.

"What we try to do is put copies into businesses that advertise," he added.

Advertising for the eight-inch by 11-inch paper has come from as far away as Wetaskiwin and Edmonton, but mainly it comes from local businesses.

Local businesses first started the paper but ended up handing the project over to the school. "We've developed it into an educational system," says Breton high school principal Jim Musson. Musson says ultimately they may get several classes involved in the project. The equipment to produce the paper was part of a "capital investment" for the school. "Most of it we have to have anyway, now we're putting it to use for community purposes," Musson added.

Musson, who formerly worked at the Arizona Republican Gazette, says he wishes he could put more time into the project. "Al (Waldron) has put in a phenomenal amount of time," he added. "The bulk of the newspaper as we see it are the efforts of Al."

Waldron admits he has "learned a lot" with the project.

"I find it takes the largest amount of time getting everything to fit," he added. All the layout for the paper is done on the computer screen.

Tuesday noon is the deadline for the paper although Waldron says the deadline is "fairly loose." The free distribution project, which also features free classified ads, is becoming quite popular in Breton.

"It's working," Musson adds.

High schoolers enjoyed California trip

Other than one problem at customs a trip to California for some local students went great.

Last week the group, a beauty culture class from the high school, returned home from the seven-day trek. The trip was centred around an International hair show in Long Beach, California.

"Everything was great," explained Rita Daley, the classes' teacher.

Daley said the only prob-blem they encountered was American customs officials at the Edmonton airport. "They weren't going to let some students on the plane without letters of consent from their parents," Daley explained.

But after this was straightened out it was off to sunny California.

In addition to spending three days at the hair show the group also toured popular spots like Knotts Berry Farm and Disneyland.

Daley says the students must have had a good time because she "hasn't heard any complaints."

"It was a short time and so much to do," she added. Daley says she will consider taking other classes to the hair show.

"It was good, it was really good."

The name change will coincide with the completion of a building addition and modernization project.

Drayton Valley and area residents are invited to participate in the name the school contest.

Preference will be given to names that reflect some aspect of the Drayton Valley area. The school cannot be named after a person. Entries must include a suggested name and a reason for the choice.

The deadline for entries is Feb. 20.

Entries can be sent to the Name Change Selection Committee, Elementary B School, Box 989, Drayton Valley, T0E 0M0, dropped off at the school or The Western Review.

From the list of names, the selection committee will forward three choices to the building committee, who will in turn forward it to the County of Parkland.

This is the second attempt to find a new name for the school. In 1974-75 a similar contest was held for the two elementary schools in town. Elementary A was changed to Eldorado as a result of that contest.

Joe Clark gets unexpected police escort

By Susan McLeod
Support your government!

This was the message from Yellowhead MP and External Affairs Minister Joe Clark.

Clark was in Edson for the annual general meeting of the Yellowhead Federal Progressive Conservative Association, held at the recreation complex.

After initial humorous comments about the federal opposition parties deferring the opening of Parliament and an unwelcome police escort his driver picked up on the journey from Barrhead to Edson, he then launched into a harsh attack on the lack of support about an attitude which seems to exist in Alberta citing a recent incident with a Hinton citizens group, as an example.

Clark said that the group, representing a wide spectrum of views in Hinton, had gone to Ottawa to seek assistance in reducing rail freight rates, which would help foster the expansion of the wood pulp industry in the town. His point was, that although they were perfectly prepared to seek government help, they expressed unwillingness to be openly supportive about any government attempts to bring about restructuring of freight rates, which work against many small western communities.

He forcibly made the point that the western population is so used to being in opposition that they are failing to support the very measures which they have pleaded for over a long period of time.

Clark added that it is patently untrue to say that western MPs have no influence on government actions saying that three of a five-man Cabinet Operation Committee (not usually discussed outside the House of Commons) came from western provinces. He added things like the attempt to change the CN freight rate structure "would never have been introduced by the Liberals."

He also declared that several elements in the Western Press were less supportive of the current federal government.

His 25 minute speech was greeted with a standing ovation from the audience and Clark then spent 20 minutes or so circulating amongst the crowd for some private discussion.

Curlers to meet

Two groups who are expected to play a 'key' role in the funding of a new arena and curling rink are scheduled to meet this week.

Both Bruce Clemmer, curling club president and George Bergquist, chairman of the Community Centre Society, have confirmed a fund-raising meeting involving the two groups.

The Community Centre Society have been asked by the town to raise $200,000 toward the construction of a new arena.

And the curling club, who are not part of the original design, want to get on with some sort of fund raising so they might build a new facility alongside the new arena.

While the town's proposal for an indoor and outdoor ice facility is not exactly what the Community Centre Society had wanted, Bergquist says he can understand the town's position to build a facility without increasing taxes. He's hopeful that enough money can be raised to include some other options.

Your friends at the Review

Line up your no-longer-needed items and advertise them in the classified!

Here's a handy list of points to remember when you write your next classified, so it will work for you.

Don't Exaggerate
Misleading information may bring potential buyers to your home but it won't help make the sale. You'll lose the prospect's trust and faith as well.

Avoid Abbreviations
A few accepted and recognizable abbreviations are OK, but an ad full of them just confuses the reader. They will go on to the next ad rather than trying to decipher yours. A good rule of thumb is, "Spell it out or leave it out."

Be Available
List your telephone number and/or address so that the potential buyer will know how to contact you. State the best hours to call so they'll know when they can reach you. If you're not home when an interested prospect calls, the chances are that prospect will not call back.

Be Complete
Put yourself in the reader's place. If you were considering buying this item, what would you want to know about it? Give the item's age, condition, size, brand name and any other important information needed to describe it completely and accurately.

Include Price
Price is one of the biggest concerns of Classified shoppers. Ads that list prices will get their attention first. Including price also helps you avoid inquiries from callers not in your price range.

Logging is in full swing as six area contractors are working to keep the Sturdi Wood mill supplied.

About 40 trucks are on the road 24 hours a day hauling to the mill. Contractors from Rocky Mountain House, Lodgepole, Cynthia and Wolf Lake areas are cutting aspen for the mill.

Above, a loader hoists logs onto a truck about 15 kilometres off the Cynthia-Lodgepole road. Left, the aspen are cut down and bunched before being skidded into a clearing to be cut into the right lengths. The machine leaves about a four-inch stump.

Below, a logger cuts the trees into 102-centimetre lengths to be loaded on the truck for the trip back to the mill.

In addition to the six contractors the mill also takes "purchase wood contracts" where they buy from private parties with small amounts of wood.

Lodge resident content at home

By Donna Haukedal
If ever an animal could be both a blessing and a curse to pioneering women, that animal had to have been the cow.

When asked what she did when she left school, Luella Nelson laughed and replied, "Just chased cows around."

Luella was born on a farm near Vegreville in 1909, one of a family of six. Her parents came from Michigan to take up homesteading.

In 1921 they moved to a farm just across Highway 16 from Evansburg. At that time there was no highway.

She attended school in Evansburg for a while then stayed home to help on the farm, until she married a farmer from Saskatchewan in 1941.

Luella and her husband farmed south of her parents until after their children started school. They were a half-mile off the school bus route and found it difficult for the children. So they sold the farm and moved to a small house in Evansburg.

After her parents died they took over their farm. They milked several cows, by hand, and for 13 years Luella's husband delivered milk in Evansburg.

Following her husband's death in 1972, Luella, son Ray and daughter Vera continued to live on the farm, and built a new home. However, Ray was transferred and Luella found it difficult to keep the fences up and the cows in. "We lost a lot of cattle on the road," she said. The land was rented out and Luella moved to the Sunshine Lodge.

She used to enjoy watching the deer from her home. Now she sometimes sees them from her window at the lodge. She feels they may be the same deer. "At least I say they're my animals," she laughed.

Several of her old school friends are still around Evansburg and visit her often. When able, she attends church. She doesn't care to go out much and Luella describes as "real content staying at home."

Of the Sunshine Lodge she says, "It's a nice place and they're so good to you here."

She has a married daughter in Edmonton who has two young children who Luella describes as "real live wires."

Secret sisters at Oil Wives

By Virginia Kuzek

Oil Wives began the year Jan. 12 in the new banquet room at the Black Gold Inn.

It was "secret sisters" night and the suspense was building. This is the meeting at which members are told the name of the Oil Wife who has been secretly sending gifts and cards throughout the year.

But first there was the meal, a delicious buffet featuring whole salmon, pork chops and a variety of other dishes. Then came the joke contest.

Laughter filled the room as member after member rose to tell their favorite joke. Since most of the winning entries were gonged by the judges for indecency, I'll only report that if you want to hear a good joke — ask an Oil Wife!

Finally the long list of secret sisters was read aloud and a scurry of activity followed as cards, flowers and thank you were delivered for a wonderful year.

Food prices influenced

Many factors influence the price of food in an industrialized country like Canada.

You might think that food prices are fixed by the costs of production, plus a margin of profit for the producer and retailer. That is true, but only for poultry and dairy products. What happens between the farm and the supermarket that makes food prices what they are?

Without looking at every complex economic factor, a quick review of several of the factors will give an idea of the system. According to the food price analysis division of Agriculture Canada, the price of primary commodities contributes 40 per cent of the cost of food.

Between the farm and the consumer's table, many essential costs increase food prices. These fall into six categories, according to Agriculture Canada economists.

Labor — of all marketing costs, labor represents the largest component of food prices, contributing 55 per cent of the price. This figure includes all workers from food processing to transportation workers and retail store personnel.

Transport — whether by rail or truck, the movement of food from one point to the other contributes five per cent of the total cost of food marketing.

Packaging — most foods arrive on the market in increasingly varied packages. Each product has specific packaging requirements. It must protect the food during transportation, storage and merchandising to ensure quality.

Energy — the world price of oil dictates energy prices within the agri-food system. If the world price increases, or falls, food prices follow the trend. Energy used in production, distribution and retailing food adds about five per cent to final food prices.

Interest rates — Since there are interest costs on borrowed money in the agri-food system, the current interest rate influences final food prices. Whether financing production, inventory maintenance or to advances to cover producer costs, there are interest costs. When the interest costs change, food prices move in the same direction.

Exchange rates — Canada imports many foods such as fruits and vegetables from other countries as well as exporting products such as pork.

Tree pruning course

Anyone interested in learning the technique of tree-pruning and tree care should register soon for an annual course offered by Alberta Agriculture in Brooks and Edmonton.

The two-day tree pruning course will be offered simultaneously March 3 and 4 at the Alberta Horticultural Research Centre at Brooks and the Alberta Tree Nursery and Horticultural Centre just northeast of Edmonton.

Registration is limited to 30 people at each location and the deadline for registering is March 1.

Although the courses are designed for people whose jobs involve trees, the sessions are open to anyone interested in tree maintenance and beautification, says Herman Oosterhuis, a tree specialist with the department.

Each course covers specific pruning techniques recommended for shade, ornamental and fruit trees, and is arranged so participants have opportunity to practice what they learn in the classroom. The courses will also cover insect and disease control as it relates to pruning; tree structural growth; tree and shrub hardiness and tree varieties that are recommended in Alberta.

Board of education

Protecting children's rights

The County of Parkland Board of Education is trying to develop a policy which will allow teachers to protect the rights of children as well as uphold the laws of the land.

Before adopting the policy, however, trustees want to make sure they don't place teachers in a legally compromising position.

Superintendent of Schools Marv Tkachuk told board members administrators have been complying with the proposed policy when presented with police or social service agency requests for interviews with students.

The policy states that teachers are expected to act in a role similar to that of parents "for the benefit of school children placed in their charge."

All employees are also expected to "uphold the laws."

Teachers and principals must make judgements which balance the question of who has authority to interview students against the principle of protecting a child's interests. Tkachuk pointed out.

The regulations, attached to the proposed policy, cover such matters as contacting parents in the event of an interview request.

If children are taken into custody by an agency, that agency is responsible for notifying parents of the action within a specified time period.

If the parents aren't notified, the education system's central office takes on the responsibility, he said.

Weather watcher

It's not the ground hog weather-watchers look for about this time of year but this mukrat, seen near Thorby on Highway 39 recently, appears to agree with the above-normal temperatures of the past two months.

Leduc County

Meetings successful

Moderate crowds and strong support greeted Leduc County councillors recently as they took their response to the City of Leduc annexation proposal on the road.

"The meetings went well but we would like to have seen twice as many people out. The meetings were successful in arousing key people in each community who will help spread information through the area," said Reeve Norman Bittner after the final meeting in Breton recently.

Response to the city annexation proposal has been an almost unanimous rejection, said Bittner.

"Response from the meetings has generally all been positive that we should fight the city bid. There has been a 99-per-cent rejection of the annexation idea by county residents. We are really pleased with the support," he said.

Meetings were held Jan. 12 at New Sarepta; Jan. 13 at Beaumont; Jan. 14 at Thorby and Jan. 15 at Breton. Reeve Bittner and Deputy Reeve Albert Klapstein acted as spokesmen while a variety of county representatives were also present.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY DRAYTON VALLEY

Wedding supplies

Fay Kalishchuk straightens a wedding dress inside the new expanded part of her business. Flowers by Fay. The shop expanded into an adjacent area to house wedding supplies.

Up to the residents

By Debbie Hunchak

The first round of ammunition was fired by Leduc County council last week in its fight against the city annexation proposal.

The battle strategy involved a series of meetings aimed at county residents. Information sessions were held at Beaumont, New Sarepta, Thorby and Breton — providing all interested citizens with an opportunity to learn more about the City of Leduc application to annex about 8,000 hectares of county land.

Attendance at the meetings was moderate, with about 40 residents attracted to each community hall. Considering the county population exceeds 13,000, the number of people who turned out at the meetings is a disappointment.

Ignorance cannot be used as an excuse — the sessions were well advertised in a publication distributed to all county ratepayers. The poor turnout suggests a majority of county residents are unconcerned about the proposed annexation.

Even more interesting is the response from those residents who attended the meetings. Ample opportunity was provided for asking questions and commenting about the issue, yet there was little of the outrage expected.

A number of citizens questioned county officials on facts related to the annexation bid but only a handful sought information about intervention methods.

It's difficult to assess county residents' position on the proposed land takeover. Either ratepayers are indifferent about the possibility of annexation or they are still weighing the pros and cons.

What is certain is that Leduc County council made a clear effort to inform residents about what it terms a "greedy land grab."

If the City of Leduc is successful in its annexation bid, ratepayers have no justification for complaining or pointing accusing fingers at county council for not putting up a strong enough fight.

County council made the effort and it is now up to the residents to react as they see fit.

Did you know?

Unemployment has generally increased over the last 20 years.

The annual unemployment rate was under four per cent in 1966 but climbed to a peak of almost 12 per cent in 1983. By early 1986, statistics tell us that the unemployment rate had declined to below 10 per cent.

New feed grain program is announced

The much rumored changes in the Alberta Feed Grain Market Adjustment Program ($21/tonne feed grain program) have been announced.

The Alberta Feed Grain Market Adjustment Program (AFGMAP) will be continued until June 30, 1987. On July 1, a new program will be activated to continue to offset the method of paying the Crow Benefit.

The new program will be called the Alberta Crow Benefit Offset Program. The only major change between the two programs will be the amount paid per tonne of feed grain. Under the current AFGMAP the benefit is $21/tonne, this will be reduced to $13/tonne under the new Alberta Crow Benefit Of-set Program. Any farmer feeding more than one tonne of grain is eligible to apply for this program.

The Federal Special Canadian Grains Program payments are based on the following criteria:

1. Seeded acres as listed in your Canadian Wheat Board permit book. If you have no permit book application forms are available from elevator agents or Farm Credit Corporation offices. If you have a 1986-87 Canadian Wheat Board permit book you do not need to pay — payment is automatic.

2. The payment will be based on the following: wheat -48¢/bu; oats -18¢/bu; barley -28¢/bu; canola -49¢/bu. These figures may be adjusted to assure the $1 billion is dispersed.

3. The yield will be determined from Alberta Hail and Crop Insurance data for each district. For the counties of Leduc and Parkland the average of the best three of the past five years are as follows: wheat -42 bu/acre ($20.16/acre); oats -66 bu/acre ($11.88/acre); barley -59 bu/acre ($16.82/acre); canola -28 bu/acre ($13.72/acre).

4. Only 80 per cent of the total amount will be paid in January-February. The remaining 70 per cent will be paid in the spring or summer.

Prior to receiving the final payment producers will be asked to verify the seeded acres were in fact harvested as cereal grain. Silage and greenfeed are not eligible.

The payment is based on seeded acres and averages for your district; what your yields were and what you do with the grain is irrelevant.

The numbers we have are accurate to the best of our knowledge; however, it is possible that yields and payments per bushel may be adjusted.

Northlands Stock Show

While the name Northlands Western Stock Show and Sale (March 25 to 28) conjures up visions of bulls, cows, pigs and more bulls, cows and pigs, this annual event at Edmonton Northlands has much more to offer.

There are five main elements that make Northlands Western more than a little different from other spring purebred cattle and swine offerings in Western Canada. There's the Northlands Western Farm and Ranch Show with the latest in agricultural equipment and related services. Other events include a pedigree seed show with entries of grain, oil and forage seeds from producers across the prairie provinces and, the Northlands Western Quarter Horse Show, held on the last three days, March 27, 28 and 29. Admission to all these events is free.

The Superodeo, which forms another integral part of Northlands Western, will move to Northlands AgriCom for 1987 and runs from March 25 to 28 with two performances on the last day. Because of the new venue, seating will be limited so be sure to order your tickets well in advance.

These tickets are available at all BASS outlets or by phoning toll-free 1-800-282-3991.
